World War II tales

Jack Faulkner, lift driver at Georgia Distribution Center, Shenandoah, Georgia, was born in 1918 and lived through a period of history that was before the time of more than three quarters of the work force at GEO.

During World War II, Jack served in the Navy aboard a destroyer. "A lot of the people I talk to react to my stories as though they were fiction. They find some of the things hard to believe. I have had experiences that many people will never encounter.

"I served in both the European-African and Asiatic-Pacific Theaters of the war. Our ship was hit by a Japanese suicide plane (Kamikaze) on December 6, 1944 at Ormoc Bay, Philippines, killing 37 and wounding 43. Luckily I made it. After 39 years this is as fresh in my mind as if it had happened yesterday. Guess I'll never forget it.

"After the war, I was on my way home for discharge and was in a train wreck in Minnesota. My luck again held, and I only received a few scratches. I truly believe with the help of the Lord I have led a charmed life.

"After being discharged from the Navy, I went home, but couldn't seem to fully adjust to civilian life, so I re-enlisted. I spent two years at Subic Bay, Philippines. During this tour of duty I was the Road Manager for the Navy Baseball Team. The team won the Pacific Fleet Finals.

"While I was in the Philippines, I helped to do the survey work for a Navy golf course. The course was laid out in the middle of a dense jungle. We had to be on the alert for big snakes, wild boar and other jungle animals. The jungle was so thick that we used compasses to plot the course, and to mark where the jungle was to be cleared we hung sheets in the trees. I went home before the course was completed so I never got to play on it or even see it after it was finished. I spent 10½ years in the Navy all together.

"After my discharge, I returned home to Griffin, Georgia. It was at this time that I met and married my wife Frances.

"When I first went to work in 1939 in the mill my wage for a 40 hour week was $9.80. Wages have come a long way since then.

"I came to work for K mart because I had heard so many good things about the company. I have never regretted coming to work here.

"My advice to the young employees at GEO is to stick with your company . . . it sure is a good one to work for.

"If I had to list the most memorable events of my life, I'd have to say the day the Kamikaze pilot dove into my ship and the night my son was born."

Don't touch that dial

Pat Gamboa, employee at K mart 3127, Temple City, California had a special day recently when a reporter from KRLA radio came into the store and asked the service desk who owned a White Ford Fairmont.

After paging and searching it was narrowed down to Pat. The radio station was having a give-away. All that was necessary to win was to have your dial set to their station and put a bumper sticker on your car with the logo on it.

Pat came out of the office with a surprised look on her face when she saw the reporter with microphones and a recorder.

They walked to her car. The reporter turned the car and the radio on to see if it was set at KRLA, and he found it was. He gave her a $100 bill and an interview on the radio that followed the next day.
